back the New Haven invaders tonight at the Rose alleys in the final five games of their duckpin match, which was started last Wednesday in New Haven. The New Haven team of Janswick and West comes here today to roll the second series of five games, and has a lead of seven pins, 929 to 922, which the two Norwich pin splitters must oversome to take down the $10 stake which is up on the ten game series. Rolling on their home alleys this tiff, the Norwich pair can have all the confidence in the world, and should lead of the score. Total pinfall in the entire series is what counts, so that the series is practically an aven thing the way it stands, but with the handicap all against the New Haven two.

New York, Dec. 18—16.10 a. m.—The opening dealings in stocks showed Atlantic Coast Line and Louisville and Nashville still in active demand. The former rose 1 1-4 and the latter 1 5-8 over last night's closing. Missouri Pacific and Denver and Rio Grande advanced 5-8 and Consolidated Gas 1. The gains otherwise were restricted to small fractions. small fractions.

The gains otherwise were restricted to small fractions.

11 a. m.—Fluctuations were of little consequence in the ordinary active stocks, the largest business and important changes occurring in stocks which are usually not factors in the market. Of these Louisville and Nashville was the most conspicuous with a rise of 2 1-2. Consolidated Gas also moved up 2 1-4, Atlantic Coast Line 1 3-4 and Denver and Rio Grande and American Smelting 1. There was considerable buying of United States Steel up to 92 1-2, after which it became quiet. American Woolen sagged 3-8.

Close.—The market closed slightly irregular. A break of 3 1-2 in American Sugar had little effect on the general list. Realizing in Utah Copper carried it off 1 1-4. Rock Island rose briskly 1 5-8 and the preferred 1 3-8. There were large blocks of United States Steel and Pennsylvania traded in at rising quotations, the latter advancing 1 1-2. Havana Electric soid at an advance of 4 1-2. Consolidated Gas 3 3-4, Minneapolis and St. Louis 1 1-4, and New York Central and Cleveland, C. C. and St. Louis 1. There was some realizing in the final dealings.

The spring meeting of the league will be held in New York this year, instead of Chicago, as heretofore.

This is the meeting at which the playing schedule is arranged and announced. It is held usually in February at the call of the schedule committee.

Johnson Says He Won't Fake.

Jack Johnson declares that he has never taken part in a fake fight. He states that he received tempting offers to throw his fights with Fitzsimmons, Burns and Ketchel. "I could probably get $150,000 to lay down to Jeffries," says the big negro, "but you can rest assured that the fight will be on the level and that my friends can bet on me, confident they will get an honest run for their money. There isn't enough money in the world to make me lose this fight. I want to beat Jeffries and show people that I am a real champion. Then I can go out and make half a million dollars in the show business in America, England, France and Australia. If I whip Jeff I won't fight again for nearly two years, Langford or no Langford!"

Bulkeley Found New Haven Too Fast In a fast and interesting game the New Haven High school basketball team defeated the Bulkeley High school team defeated the Bulkeley High school of New London Saturday night in New Haven by the score of 45 to 9. The game, though one-sided, at times showed the excellent form of both teams. Burt, center, and Rowley excelled for New Haven, the former getting nine goals and the latter six, while Arnold and Noble starred for the New London five. Throughout the game the excellent passing of the New Havens was especially noticeable, and their team work was perfect.

CUT DOWN ERROR COLUMN.

Fred Tenney Says This Would Aid Batters and Stop the Shirking of Difficult Chances.

Cut out the error column, says Fred Tenney, famous first baseman, once manager of the Boston National league club and now with the New York Glants. By the elimination of this column in the tabulated score, with the exception of wild throws on which base runuers advance an extra base, this veteran believes that another step forward would be made. His idea, when carefully considered, presents conditions that are worthy of thought. "How many times are batters robbed of what are almost sure base hits?" says Tenney. "This is especially true in line drives to infielders. No great credit is due to the infielder, for getting these balls as a rule, for they are shot straight at him. Of course there are exceptions, as there are to almost everything, but that is the rule. As a matter for fact the batsman is almost entitled to a hit. Surely he hit the pitcher hard enough to get one, but the luck of the game that cuts when an pitcher hard enough to get one, but the luck of the game, that cuts such an important figure in baseball, happens in that instance to be against him.

Make Everything a Hit. "So I figure that if the error col-umn so far as fumbled balls or bad throws to a baseman are concerned, was eliminated, making everything a bit, it would only just about even up for those infield line drives that the batter loses because the infielder happens to be right in front of a hard hit half driven extralections. pens to be right in front of a hard hit hail driven straight into his hands. Naturally the scoring of a fielder's choice would remain just as it is today, for the infielder makes the play on some other base runuer when the batsman could have been thrown out at first. Again there must be come way of scoring extra bases taken by a runner on a bad throw. For that I would have the error column in the box score, but it would represent wild would have the error column in the box score, but it would represent wild throw, not the fumbled balls, or a bad throw to first on a batted ball.

"This would naturally make some difference in the batting and fielding averages or the players but I don't think it would boost any batsman very much, while it would take away that excuss for a fielder shirking a hard chance for fear he might be penalized for a misplay. There are some such men playing the game, you know, though one of that kind is never a high class performer. It wouldn't take long for those who are watching the batting averages closely to figure out the difference in this change would make in the hitting of a player. And, I say, why should a batter be penalized by having a hit taken away from him when he manages to hit the ball in such c way that an infielder musses it up? Eather I think, to do justice on all rides a base hit bould be credit.

Eckman's Alterative deserves aftention, not because it is a "proprietary" but because it really has cured many cases of Tuberculosis. If it is a fraud it needs exposing badly, because a number of cured Consumptives will need to find some other reason for being well.

Henry Clay said he would rather be right than be President. Is it not better for Eckman's Alterative to make cures than to be othical?
